DETAILED ACTION

The amendment filed on 9/11/08 has been entered and the remarks therein have been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Udagawa et al. '529.

Udagawa et al. '529 discloses a stapling apparatus comprising a feeding roller 43 driven by suitable drive mechanism; i.e. a "motor" (note: column 4, lines 60-65) for advancing a straight staple of a coil of staples (note: Fig. 9) which are accommodated in a holder/cartridge to a stapling location.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Udagawa et al. '529 in view of German patent '519 or Hoshi et al. '334.

Udagawa et al. '529 lacks the feed roller having feed teeth. German patent '519, as set forth above, discloses a feeding roller comprising teeth "d". Hoshi et al. '334 discloses a feeding roller 50 comprising a plurality of teeth thereon (note: Fig. 10). In view of the teachings of German patent '519 or Hoshi et al. '334, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide the periphery of the feeding roller of the stapler of Udagawa et al. '529 with a plurality of teeth in order to more effectively register and retain the staple coil during operation.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 14 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed on 9/11/08, with respect to German patent '519 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of claims 1 and 2 under 102(b) relying upon German patent '519 has been withdrawn, since it is not conclusive that a motor, or staple sheets are disclosed.

8. Applicant's arguments filed on 9/11/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. With regard to the 102(b) rejection of claim 1 relying upon Udagawa, applicant argues that the embodiment of Fig. 9, which shows the coiled staple, fails to disclose the claimed feeding roller. The embodiment of Fig. 9 is merely relied upon to show that a coiled staple configuration can be used, commensurate with the disclosure in the previous embodiment(s); i.e. the feeding roller is utilized in each of the chosen embodiments. Applicant argues that Hoshi fails to disclose a feeding roller as claimed. Udagawa is relied upon to show a positively driven feeding roller. Hoshi discloses a feeding roller, as broadly claimed, which has teeth and contacts the delivered staples. Although the roller 50 of Hoshi is not positively driven, it assists in the feeding of the fasteners, and is thus an analogous teaching.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
